DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 70, 74 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rao et al. (US Patent 5,813,224).

Regarding claims 70, 74, Rao discloses a method for dosing and transporting dry urea from a storage vessel to a processing location, the urea present in the form of pellets, comprising: isolating the pellets; and transferring the pellets to a carrier air stream (76b) (see Figures 7, 8).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 71-73, 75-81 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rao et al. (US Patent 5,813,224) in view of Tarabulski et al. (US Patent 5,809,775).

Regarding claims 71, 73, 80, 81, Rao discloses all the claimed limitations as discussed in claim 70 above, however, fails to disclose at least one receiving element adapted to receive one pellet. Tarabulski teaches at least one receiving element adapted to receive one pellet urea (see col. 8, lines 16-19).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, to have utilized the teaching of Tarabulski in the system of Rao, since the use thereof would have been conventional in the art to provide effectively dry urea to a processing location.

Regarding claims 72, 75-77, Rao further discloses that the transferring includes bringing up the receiving element to a compressed air nozzle and blowing the pellet out from the receiving element (see Figure 7, col. 10, lines 19-24).

Regarding claims 78, 79, the modified Rao method discloses all the claimed limitations as discussed in claim 76 above, however, fails to disclose that the pressure in the transport line is greater by 0.1 to 1.0 bar than environmental pressure at an end of the transport line.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide specific optimum range of pressure in the transport line being greater by 0.1 to 1.0 bar than environmental pressure, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 37-69 are allowed.
